

Parents:

Join us as we explain our unique four fold approach and leave you with practical, simple yet neurologically complex activities to implement at home to build a solid foundation for happy learning and a happy child and adults, too.

Educators:

Explore the root causes of many modern learning, behavioural, attention and social challenges within the sensory motor systems and processing pathways of the learners' brain. Implement simple but effective tools and activities in your work to remove obstacles and enhance learning.

Professionals:

Become familiar with the neuroscience behind the approach, to become a confident referral for your patients to an approach that synthesises holism, respect, non-judgement, neuroplasticity, and nutritional science into a unique, effective approach that educates, inspires and empowers, the child, parents and teachers to become Everyday Neuro-plasticians™.
